WEATHER REPORT

Showers or thunderstorms tonight and Sunday, warmer tonight.

GET IT AT DONGES.

Antioch College found little difficulty in defeating Cedarville College on the diamond Friday afternoon, the Yellow Springs nine winning 14-5. Chambliss, of Antioch, let the Cedarville lads down with one hit and had his support been airtight he would have chalked up a shutout. Antioch secured 16 hits off the delivery of Collins. The batteries were: Antioch—Chambliss and Vannorsdall; Cedarville—Collins and Sollins.

Harry Simes has succeeded H. L. Anderson as manager of the Refiners Oil Company. Mr. Simes has been connected with the company for some time and is thoroughly acquainted with the business.

Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Finley returned home Friday night after spending ten days in the north-west. They visited their son and daughter-in-law, Lieut. and Mrs. Kent Finley at Ft. Snelling, Minn., and Dr. Finley visited the Mayo hospital at Rochester, where he attended a clinic.

Chicken thieves have been busy in the county recently, and Thursday night the hen house on the farm of J. M. Spahr on the Jamestown pike, was burglarized and two dozen fowls taken. Friday night 35 chickens were stolen from Lee Frye, in the Old Town Run neighborhood.

George M. Huston, of West Main street, is the third Xenia saloonist to quit business before the national prohibition law takes effect. Mr. Huston yesterday notified the county auditor that he has gone out of business.

The Lal Bagh Missionary Society, which was to meet Monday evening, May 5th, has been postponed until Tuesday evening, May 6. This meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Lester Buell, E. Third street. All ladies of the church invited.

Mrs. O. G. Ledbetter left Saturday for Akron, after a visit in this city with her mother, Mrs. C. L. Spencer.

PEOPLE ARE NOT RALLYING TO THE CALL TO BUY BONDS

To be perfectly frank, the Victory Loan in Greene county is going badly. The people of the county are not rallying to the call to buy bonds as they should and the county is really in grave danger of falling down in this last war work job. To fall down now and thus spoil the county's splendid war record would be a calamity that the loan committee will not permit without first making a stiff fight.

At the close of business Friday the county had subscribed exactly $278,000 or 40 per cent of its quota of $685,000. There is no camouflage about these figures. They represent every cent that has been subscribed and there are no big subscriptions held back for the purpose of making an eleventh hour grand stand finish. It has been hard sledding to get $278,000 subscribed and no one realizes better than Chairman Smith and his helpers that the worst is yet to come.

Yellow Springs and Miami township is the only district in the county that has rallied to the call, showing the same pep and patriotic spirit that was shown in previous campaigns. That district has subscribed 112 per cent of its quota. Cedarville is next with 74 per cent of its quota. Other districts are trailing along far behind some having less than 15 per cent of their quotas subscribed.

In the Cedarville district the women workers have done splendid work, raising $18,000 of the $53,000 sub-

OVER TWO HUNDRED ATTEND COMMUNITY MEETING AT SCHOOL

About 250 people attended a community meeting which was held at the Spring Hill School Friday evening under the patronage of the Mothers Circle.

An excellent program was rendered. An orchestra consisting of George Jeffers, on the violin, Miss Mary Dakin at the piano, and Mrs. Walter Wike operating the bones was the "hit" of the evening.

Each of the grades gave some exercises and the sixth grade presented a clever sketch, "The Victory Loan," which was prepared by the teacher Miss Henrietta Evers. Miss Margaret Davis and Forest Lane gave readings. Mrs. Spahr and Miss Mary Noble sang solos. Roy Jones played a violin solo, and short talks were given by Superintendent of Schools Patterson and Business Manager John R. Beacham.

Later ice cream and cake were served.

GREAT FOR EMERGENCIES

San Cura Ointment Should Be In Every Home.

There never was known a more reliable ointment than San Cura. In most every case where it has been used it has created astonishment. It drew a needle out of the foot of the daughter of Mrs. James Hitchcock, of Centreville, Pa., after the doctor had used his lance and failed.

It has great healing and antiseptic value. It possesses so much healing virtue that it is guaranteed by Sayre & Hemphill to relieve any kind of piles, eczema, tetter, salt rheuma, boils, carbuncles, ulcers, all kinds of chronic sores, chilblains, and chapped hands, or money back.

It's a mighty handy remedy to have in the house in emergencies for bruises, burns, cuts or scalds, because it relieves the pain and is antiseptic and healing. It's a medicine chest in itself—a little family physician that is ever in demand. 30c, 60c and $1.20 a jar at Sayre & Hemphill's.

BEST SKIN SOAP

Is San Cura Soap, because of its great antiseptic and healing virtues. Use it regularly, and it will make the skin soft and velvety; will remove pimples and blackheads. It's the real soap for babies' tender skin, which mothers of infants should remember. 25 cents a cake at Sayre & Hemphill's.

If your druggist does not have it send to Thompson Medical Co., Titusville, Pa.

STAGE IS ALL SET FOR RESERVE GAME WITH URBANA TEAM

The stage is set at the Cincinnati avenue lot for the second game of the local baseball season, the Reserves taking on the Urbana Tigers.

A little shift in the lineup has been made for the second game and with three pitchers and two catchers on the roster the battery is yet undetermined. Manager Foley says that either Free, Kurtz, of Springfield, or Rannels of Dayton, will do the hurling, while either Randall of Xenia or Teows of Springfield, will receive him. Rannels is the lad who pitched the Dayton Wright team into the city industrial league championship of Dayton. Schneider will be shifted to lead-off man for the clash and either W. Bath or DeAtley will perform at short.

The tentative lineup is as follows: Schneider, 1b, Stiles 2b, F. Bath, 1b, Weaver 3b, DeAtley or W. Bath, ss, Robinette, rf, Fuller cf, Randall, of Teows c, Free, Kurtz or Rannels, p. Billy Robinson will arbitrate the combat and hopes to speed the game through in the same quick order as last Sunday.

ENGAGEMENT OF POPULAR COUPLE IS ANNOUNCED

Announcement of the approaching marriage of Miss Esther Babb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Babb of New Burlington pike, to Mr. Grover Crawford, is interesting friends of this popular young couple. The date for the nuptials has not been announced, but the ceremony will take place this month.

Mr. Crawford returned home from France a few weeks ago, after having seen service at the front, and has been given his discharge from the army. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Crawford of South Detroit street.

Miss Bessie Searff and Miss Helen Dillingham have issued invitations for next Thursday evening when they will entertain a company in honor of Miss Babb.

HOUSE CLEANING IS OVER AT COURT HOUSE

Under the direction of Janitor Geo. Swartz, the court house has undergone its most complete and thorough spring house cleaning in years, and the various offices are shining from their contact with scrub brush and dust cloth. No dust has managed to escape the eagle eyes of Mr. Swartz and his helpers, and some of the remote and almost inaccessible corners have felt the touch of the cleaner for the first time in their history.

SIXTY YOUNG PEOPLE ENJOY HAPPY EVENT

Sixty young people were present when the girls of Mrs. A. E. Faulkner's Sunday school class entertained in honor of the young men of Miss Cora Williams' class at the First M. E. Church Friday evening.

A two course supper was served, and a clever method was used in grouping the young folks for supper. Before being served each group sang, or performed some other "stunt" for the enjoyment of the rest of the party.

Opium.

Opium is the dried juice of the white poppy, a flower that grows in many parts of Asia. A few days after the flowers have fallen off the plants men go through the fields in the afternoon and make little cuts in the poppy head. Out of these cuts a milky juice oozes, which dries into a brown, sticky paste. Every morning the men go through the fields again and scrape off this paste, which they put into jars. Later on it is made into half-pound balls and then packed for shipment.

Mending Knives and Forks.

To mend a knife or steel fork which has come out of the handle, fill the hole with finely powdered resin and hold the rough end of the knife or fork in the fire until it becomes hot. Insert it in the powdered resin and hold it straight until firmly fixed.

Invisible Airplane Wings.

Wings of cellulose acetate, being transparent, make an airplane invisible at the height of a few thousand feet, also increasing the operator's field of vision. Sheets one one-hundredth inch thick are about as strong as the ordinary wing cover, and the weight of nine ounces to the square yard is but slightly greater. The rapid spread of a tear when started is a disadvantage that may be overcome with a re-enforcing of loosely woven silk.

Ignorance is Bliss.

One day a farmer went to the nearest market town to buy a bushel of seed wheat. As the salesman was away, his wife was serving, and, taking up the peck measure, she filled it twice, poured the contents into a bag, and began to tie it up. "But, Mrs. Lawton," said the farmer, "it takes four pecks to make a bushel." "Oh, does it?" replied the woman, untangling the bag. "Well, you see, I never had any experience in measuring grain before I was married—I was a school-teacher!"—Exchange.

COURT NEWS

The grand jury for the May term of court will convene Monday. There are only two matters to be taken up for investigation, in which the accused persons have been bound over, but 23 persons have been subpoenaed to testify, and the grand jury session may continue into Tuesday.

Both matters to be investigated are grand larceny cases. The cases of W. C. Criss and Leona Criss, charged with the theft of $500 from George Devilbliss, and Warren Rogers, who is accused of stealing materials from the Greene County Red Cross Society.

The estate of the late Martin Kline of Bath township is valued at $100,000, according to an estimate filed in probate court. The estate consists of $40,000 in realty and $60,000 in personal property. His daughters, Mrs. Ella Bates and Mrs. Hettie Grimes were appointed administrators. The court named James Wolf, Daniel Long and John Hoyer as appraisers.

PASTORS ARE ASKED TO HELP OBSERVE
EMPLOYMENT SUNDAY

Local pastors have been asked by the government to co-operate in the observance of "Employment Sunday," May 4, by calling attention from their pulpits to the necessity of finding jobs for discharged soldiers and sailors.

The government is urging that all employers keep their labor needs listed with nearest local branch or office of the United States Employment Service, and pastors are asked to make this announcement to employers in their congregations, and to read from the pulpits the appeals from President Wilson, and Secretary of Labor Wilson. Parents and other relatives of discharged soldiers and sailors are asked to urge them to return to their home towns after discharge, as the unemployment problem is being seriously aggravated by the tendency on the part of many soldiers to remain in New York and other large industrial centers, where it is difficult to find work for the men living there.

The new Series Linwood "Six-39," with its ample accommodations for five passengers, has been universally accepted as the soundest, safest and most enduring motor car investment for the family.

In addition to its Beauty—intrinsic Paige Beauty—the basic worth of the New Series Linwood, the latest in design and the very best of materials and workmanship, has won for it the appreciation of those Americans whose appreciation counts.

REPUBLICANS DON'T HAVE TO BE TOLD HOW TO VOTE.

A few days ago the dispatches from Washington announced that Senator Lodge, leader, and Senator Curtis, whip, had telegraphed to Republican members of the Senate to withhold expressions concerning the League of Nations until a party conference could be held. Since then a number of leading Senators have given expression to their opposition to the holding of any such conference—and it is noticeable that in speaking of the latter they are called "of the group known as progressive." The latter take the right ground; and will strongly oppose the proposition of some of the hotheads of the party to make opposition to the League of Nations a Republican party measure.

The Republican Senators who went off half-cocked in their round-robin pledge to vote against the League, gave the Republican party such an ice water bath shock that hundreds of lifelong Republicans were almost made sick in their deep regret over the circumstance. People are often so wedded to their party that injury to it is regarded almost as a personal affront. They love their party for its ideals which they deem honorable and best for their country's welfare, and are typically ready to fight for its success. So anything that they deem would be an injury to it hurts them. This is the reason they deprecated so feelingly the celebrated round-robin incident. They felt it hurt their party and incidentally hurt them.

The Senator Lodge call to Senators smacked of the feeling that Senators must not talk on the League question until told what to say—that they must not make up their minds on the League until they found out what somebody else thought of it—that it would be treason if they said they liked it while the G. O. P. had made up its mind the other way.

We are glad quite a number of the more progressive of the Senators had the courage to say "No, thank you Mr. Lodge, we feel capable of doing our own thinking and voting on this subject, as well as all others, and believe in a square, open hand deal about this important matter, rather than be bound by any secret party conference."

Who shall say that the democratic party has a patent right on the League of Nations, simply because President Wilson favors it? Who shall say that the republican party is opposed to the League of Nations, when all know that that great republican statesman, Ex-President Taft, is the real father and great advocate of the principle in this country? Has not Ex-President Taft stumped the country to create public sentiment in favor of it, which he looks upon as one of the most righteous, uplifting humanitarian acts since creation.

No. There should be no sectarianism in consideration of the League of Nations. It is too great a subject, with far too far reaching tendrils, to be made the play thing of party politics. If it shall be able to accomplish what it proposes, it is so divine-like in nature that it will seem as if inspired by the Almighty.

Von Moltke's Garrulity.
Field Marshal von Moltke was a man of few words. It is said that a man who knew him well once made a wager that in proposing a toast to the Kaiser the old soldier would not use more than eight or nine words. On this occasion, however, it happened that he added to his usual phrase the words, "Meine Herren—Gentlemen. The discursive loser remarked: "Von Moltke's aging. He's getting garrulous!"

A PARIAH AMONG NATIONS.

There is no need of wasting sympathy over the outeries that come from the south of the Rio Grande as Mexico realizes that the Peace Conference at Paris, representing the great powers of the world, branded it as a pariah among the nations. The Carranza government, viciously pro-German, anti-American and indulging itself in all sorts of back-alley politics aimed at misrepresenting the United States among the other nations of the western hemisphere, has ridden to the fall and has toppled over. The decision of the Paris conferees is simply a recognition of an admitted fact. There is nothing left for the United States to do but to continue the watchful waiting of the twistings and the turnings and the squirmings of the existing government at Mexico City as it winces under the verdict of the great powers. For the verdict is a just one, and the pan-American powers that have been made weary and sick of Mexico's intrigues against the United States, if not openly, will at least take a certain quiet satisfaction that this one irregular government of a large American state is classified as semi-bandit without financial or political honor. Naturally the United States will come in for all sorts of virulent abuse from Mexico, but we have had this for the last decade or so, and the thing for Mexico to do is to cool off and be decent and honest and then ask for recognition as a power worthy of the respect of the other civilized nations of the world.—Public Ledger.

ORMSBY WANTS CASE TRANSFERRED TO THE FEDERAL COURT

On the grounds that "owing to prejudice or local influence," he could not obtain justice in the state court, George F. Ormsby has brought suit in the Federal Court at Cincinnati, asking to have the case brought here. A. Finney as trustee under the will of George S. Ormsby, transferred to the Federal court for trial.

Mr. Finney was appointed trustee of the George F. Ormsby fund which was created by the will of Prof. Ormsby. The terms of the will regarding the sums to be paid to George F. Ormsby and his son, were uncertain, and Mr. Finney brought suit, asking the court to construe the clause.

Everyday Etiquette

"I am in deep mourning. Another near relative is to be married and wishes me to attend. What is the accepted custom?" asked Helen.

"Attend the wedding ceremony, but not the wedding reception," replied her closest friend.

Really True.

An Indianapolis seventh grade was studying the gender of nouns. As a final review the teacher asked the pupil to give a few definitions. Masculine gender was defined and then came the request for a definition of the feminine. Alice, whose mother is a rather noted feminist, recited: "Feminine gender is the gender that opposes masculine."

NEIL LAUGHS AT BARBARA'S FEARS.

CHAPTER LXXVII.

After dinner Neil announced that he had intended to go down town, really should meet some men at the club, but he was so tired they could get along without him. I was delighted. He was at home so little, we had so few of the long quiet evenings together which to me meant so much.

We talked of his aunt's approaching visit, of our boy, his cunning ways, and what we hoped to do for him. It was a never failing source of pleasure for Neil to plan the education of his small son. Then after a while I introduced the subject I knew would be distasteful to him.

"Neil we MUST talk things out. I shall be sick if you put me off any longer. I haven't had a decent night's sleep for a week. Won't you explain things to me—your business, so I can refute the stories about you?"

"See here Bab, you wouldn't understand if I tried to explain. And really there is nothing to tell you. Everything is going along all right."

"I know it is as far as money goes, Neil dear. But won't you stop associating with these cheap common men whom you go to—Blanche Orton's with, and whom her servants talk of as being so common and cheap in their actions." I had no intention of telling him anything I had heard thru Mr. Frederick, I had mentioned he had called, that was all.

"What a lot of cats women are! I thought Lorraine Norton was above gossiping. If some of your other friends had brought you that yarn I should not have been surprised. You wouldn't have my business friends here—I had to entertain them somewhere. And—"

"Bring them here now, Neil! I'll do my best to make it pleasant for them—and you." I said impulsively. I had no idea of making such a proposition when I commenced to talk.

"Not on your life!" he quickly replied, then flushed. I knew he was thinking of those women Mr. Frederick had spoken of, and that he knew he could not bring them to meet me.

"But why?"
"Lots of reasons. We will not discuss them please. It will not be necessary to entertain them as frequently after a bit. We have this deal nearly finished. I shall take a vacation from work for a while, although I have to stay in town."

"Is it true, Neil, that you sell stock in mines and things when you haven't any mines to sell, and that you give pretty engraved certificates for the money people intrust to you—and nothing else? Is it true that we are living upon the money of widows and orphans who have trusted you? Be honest with me Neil. I can bear anything, will help you all I can; but tell me what all this methods means?"
"I had gone on desperately, not daring to look my husband in the face while I questioned his honesty. For that was what I was doing; questioning the honesty of my boy's father.

"Now see here Barbara! I may have done some things that old fogies like Powers call 'crooked.' But they aren't up in modern business methods. I don't MAKE anyone give me money. I give them stock with the understanding that there is a risk; it may turn out well, probably will. But they will understand, or ought to, that they are taking a chance. I wish you would not butt in to my affairs. You have enough to do to run the house and take care of the boy."

"I read about that promoter—his name was Carter, the other day. They have arrested him because he sold oil wells, stock in them when he didn't even own the land. It has frightened me terribly, Neil. I would not plead with him to do right, just because it was right and because I believed in him—not yet. I would try other things first."

"The cases are not similar at all. My deals are all right." Yet even as he answered, he flushed painfully.
"We have been extravagant, Neil. I know we haven't run any bills you don't intend to pay; but there are a lot of them, some of them for big amounts. Can't we economize a little?"

"And give people the right to think I am hard up! I guess not. Now see here Bab. You attend to your own affairs, and give me the same privilege. I shall forget that I have a sweet, pretty wife soon, and think only that I have a meddlesome person named Bab who won't mind her own business." He kissed me, laughing, then changed the subject. Again I had accomplished absolutely nothing.

To Be Continued.

Look Decent.

Bobby's father was a photographer, and the little fellow had often seen him take pictures and heard him admonish the people to "Look pleasant, please." One day he obtained a small, worn-out camera and pretended to take his little playmate's picture. Getting her to stand for a snapshot, he directed: "Now, Hazel, stand still and look decent, please."

UNIQUE SOUVENIR OF WAR DISPLAYED IN ADAIR'S WINDOW

One of the most unique war souvenirs that has been sent to Xenia from overseas, is a white silk parachute, the kind which was used to carry lights to illuminate surrounding country during air raids.

The parachute, which contains 84 yards of thin white silk, was sent to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Davis of West Main street, by Corporal Roy K. Davis, who is an air service mechanic with the Sixteenth Company, Fourth regiment. He is at Aulnoy, France. The parachute is on display in the windows of the Adair furniture store.

Corporal Davis said that the parachutes were thrown out by airmen and were contained in bombs, which exploded and released the parachutes. The parachutes carried lights which gleamed brightly and furnished light for the raiders.

SERGEANT WM. OVERHOLSER WRITES INTERESTING LETTER TO HIS MOTHER

Mrs. Daniel Overholser, of Alpha, recently received the following interesting letter from her son, Sergeant William Overholser, who is with the American Expeditionary forces in France:
April 3rd, 1919.

Dear Mother:—
While I am waiting to go to supper, I am going to write you a letter to let you know that I am well and happy, and was inspected by General John J. Pershing yesterday. The personnel of the hospital, as many as could be spared, loaded up in motor trucks and went to Nevers, where we were reviewed by our commander-in-chief personally. This is the first time that I have been that far from this camp. I enjoyed the trip immensely, and we passed through some very beautiful country. It is about 20 miles to Nevers. The city lies in a large valley, but it seemed as though we went up hill until just before we went down hill into Nevers. We were in formation all the time, or I would have gotten some post cards or other souvenirs. We drilled the day before we went over to be inspected and that is the first sanitary drill I have done since I have been in France. Our company made a very nice showing. You should have seen me when the General passed in front of me. I didn't even see him at that time, as I was standing at rigid attention. I had plenty of time to view him while he was inspecting the other companies. He is a fine looking soldier and very military in his every movement. After the inspection he made a speech. He hesitated while talking, and it seemed as though he was having a hard time picking out the words he wanted to use. Of course, he has to weigh each word before uttering it. He expressed his thanks to all of us for whatever part, no matter how small, we had done to help win the war. He also mentioned the women back home who had sacrificed their work and helped the boys in the A. E. F., and the women who had kept the "homes fires burning."
Of course, he had reference to the knitting and sewing and donations that had been given. I don't know how it is at other places, but here the Red Cross has its warehouses filled up with articles that are handed out to us. In fact, we have had everything that we could wish for since the armistice. Before that time, we were a little short of Red Cross articles, on account of transportation, but that was to be expected. They did all they could for us. They managed to get sweaters, socks, gloves and necessary things to keep us warm. Since the armistice we have everything we can wish for.
I was out on a scouting expedition at the various Red Cross huts this afternoon, and now have sufficient chocolate bars, cakes, etc., camouflaged for future reference. I have only to look out for myself now. I used to have to get stuff for the men, but most of them are getting wise now, and that relieves me of some responsibilities.
The Red Cross is certainly doing a great work over here. Each night, and many afternoons, there is a show, lecture, moving pictures, music or entertainment of some sort at each of the Red Cross huts, (we call them huts, but they are large recreation halls). The lady in charge of this center is certainly working hard for the entertainment of "our boys," as she calls all of us, and the hut next door is the best one in the center. She has potted flowers, curtains at the windows, a library, writing tables, a billiard table and canteen. She seems never to tire of helping us, and will do anything within her power for the boys. Recently, she asked me if I would like to play in an orchestra that is being organized. I told her I would be glad to, as the band I have been playing in, is to be broken up. This hospital center is being cleaned up very rapidly, but one cannot tell for sure when we will move. The question is, where will we be sent? I am hoping it will be to the good, old U. S. A.

General Pershing told us that the troops were being sent home as rapidly as possible.
Do not worry if you do not get letters from me at regular intervals. I try to write you twice a week. That is not often but some times I have to play in the band or have other duties. You know I go to school now and spend some time each afternoon studying French.
I had to stop writing and go to dinner. Didn't have much to eat, only roast beef and gravy, potatoes, tomatoes, dried peaches, bread and coffee. Not much, but when a fellow has a few things like that he can manage to live.
I took a trip yesterday. Got a 14 hour furlough, and went to Sancerre. I enjoyed seeing the old buildings. We walked over the town, and tried to see all we could. Sancerre is the place where the women wove the bedspread for Louis XIV. I saw a very old church and wanted to know when it was built. No one could explain to us about it. I asked a Frenchman, and all I could get out of him was, "Parre comprie," meaning he did not understand me.
One has a very hard time in finding his way in these French towns. The man with whom I went had some friends he wanted to see, so I walked around while he visited them. When I thought it time to return I thought I would take a short cut, instead of retracing my steps. The result was, I got lost. I asked a French woman to direct me to the depot. She could not understand, but finally after various acrobatic stunts she seemed to know what I wanted and answered "Oui, oui." Now what would you do if somebody would say that to you? Well, that is just what I did. I found the place myself. I was not afraid of not finding my way out, but I was only disgusted because no one could talk "honest-to-goodness" language. I will take the good, old U. S. A. always.
Well, hoping this reaches you feeling as well and happy as it leaves me, I am
Your affectionate son,
(Strictly American.) WILL.

AT THE GATES OF MAY
Spring has opened her garden gate. Come in, my love, and see The miracle of her winter dream Awaiting you and me.
Where yesteryear's sweet-peas forlorn On frosty wings took flight, A flock of pink and purple wings Came fluttering down last night.
And naked thorn and tattered leaf— Waifs of the wintry snows— Lift up their ruddy faces now. The children of the rose.
Bubbles of golden laughter now, Baubles of Mab and Pan, Pink with the first shy blush of May. They greet us, maid and man.
For spring has opened her garden gate, And thrush and oriole throw My harp of roses at your feet With all the buds that blow:
And watching these, that dance for love, And dye and weave and spin, Open the garden of your heart, And let my love come in!

UNUSUAL RECITAL SUCCESS ASSURED

J. A. Beatty & Son will present Miss Marie Tiffany, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company and Mr. Jacques Glockner in a recital at Trinity M. E. Church on the afternoon and night of Monday, May 5th.

Miss Marie Tiffany

Miss Marie Tiffany's voice is of rare purity and flexibility. With such an organ and the thorough training which she has had in this country and abroad it is not astonishing that she was secured by the Metropolitan Opera Company two years ago. The fact that Miss Tiffany is to be assisted by Mr. Jacques Glockner lends added interest to the event.

Mr. Jacques Glockner

Mr. Jacques Glockner, violinist, is an artist who has made many friends among discriminating music lovers for his sincere musicianship and unusual ability. There are indications that something out of the ordinary will be heard at this recital although Mr. Beatty refuses to divulge just what it is. The reporter has his suspicions. If they are correct those who attend are apt to have a very pleasant surprise.
